

Human Rights Detectives

Three Tower Hamlets Secondary Schools and a Newham School took part in human rights conferences, interviewing experts from NGOs and creating reports, animations, banners and raps as they learnt how to be UN Special Rapporteurs. The project was recommended to Heads of English in Newham as a module for KS3 English, and is fully accessible as a webquest on London Grid for Learning.

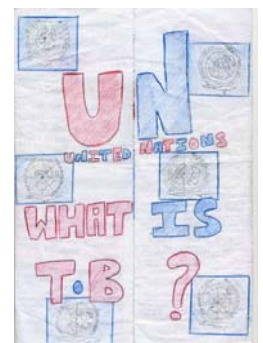

Morpeth Students celebrating their work on human rights and the issue of Asylum.

Students acting as UN Special Rapporteurs interviewing experts from NGOs about refugees, water, homelessness...

Students created animations, large banners and webpages based on their research.

Global Detectives

Click here for teacher resources and advice.

Start your research by looking at this growing set of interviews. You need Quiztime Player to play the clips.

- Hilary Benn MP, Secretary of State for International Development interviewed by Langdon Park School Year 9 students.
- Dan Jones, Education Officer for Amnesty International interviewed by Michael Newman.
- Fatma Sidj, Saharawi Woman from Refugee Camps in Algeria, with translator, interviewed by Class 9C, Langdon Park School.

UN Millennium Development Goals (MDG)
By the year 2015, all 181 United Nations Member States have agreed to meet these goals.

Learn what the goals are, how they are measured, what is the GB and how are we making poverty history...

UN Special Rapporteur
leads to be a human rights advocate

Train to be a UN Special Rapporteur - find out what you do, who you work for...

Global Detectives
Researching & creating your country report

Choose from four countries and six human rights issues to research and create your report.

The resources are now a large multi-media web activity for young people to learn about the DfID, the UN and about being Special Rapporteurs.